

THE BIRD CLINIC VETERINARY CORPORATION

The subdermal nerves follow the pectoral sagittal feather tract patterns in birds. Injections should avoid these feather tracts (inject between them), and with staying parallel to the keel bone, you will minimize any pain during the injection procedure

This publication is part of The BIRD C News™ series to help educate bird owners. Produced by The BIRD Clinic Veterinary Corporation 200 S. Tustin St. #E, Orange, CA USA (714) 633-2910 www.thebirdclinic.com May be reproduced with permission only.

Revised Apr 2024